REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

To the Londonderry Schoolboard:

I take pleasure in presenting to you my sixth annual report. I believe that I can report substantial improvement of the schools in regard to housing, health, and features of the instruction.

HOUSING CONDITIONS

The school housing conditions have been greatly improved by remodeling No. 1 and No. 4 schools. The rest of the schools have had generally good upkeep by the renovation of the interior and exteriors of the building and the installation of new furniture where it was necessary.

HEALTH

The school nurse, Miss Martha Daley, reports that all pupils have received a thorough examination in sight, hearing, weight, and height. The underweight and malnourished children have received special attention and the marked improvement which they have made is very gratifying.

Many children took advantage of the dental clinic which was operated by Dr. George E. Danforth. 45 cases were completed at school No. 7, 8 and the Morrison. It is hoped that the rest of the schools will have the benefit of this clinic.

The work of several teachers in serving hot lunches for their pupils is reported as "splendid." The teachers who have clean, bright and attractive school-rooms are praised and the health and comfort afforded by modern seats and desks is commended. It is suggested that the ideal of the teachers and school officials should be to have every school 100 per cent modern and sanitary.

The Morrison School is reported as much overcrowded, and it is suggested that as soon as possible something be done to relieve the congested conditions of this building so as to meet the proper health conditions.

FEATURES OF INSTRUCTION

The features of instruction this year have been a study of character-training by the teachers, a vitalization and readjustment of the curriculum for the purpose of enabling teachers and pupils to do their work to the best advantage. The teachers have cooperated in devising improved methods of grading. We hope through this readjustment that no pupil will fail and that no time may be lost in repeating work once done properly.

CHARACTER-TRAINING

In character-building we have ever before us the problem of conduct. How shall the teacher deal with a typical case, such as the noisy boy, who frequently disturbs the whole school? Too frequently such a boy is condemned and suppressed. The teacher's duty, however, is to deal justly with him, giving him the assistance and guidance he needs in the development of the qualities which make up his personality. Such a boy has many qualities that may be turned to good account. He will recognize and appreciate any analysis the teacher may make of his character for the purpose of improving his defective qualities. This boy may turn his energetic qualities to good account in such characteristics as public spirit, patriotism, reverence, and use his initiative in the solution of his daily problems. Our aim is, in character-building, not only to give the child practice in such qualities as honesty, courtesy, kindness, love, perseverance, judgment, self-reliance, initiative, open-mindedness, loyalty, courage, persuasion, patriotism and public spirit, but also to analyze these various traits and present the analysis to the child whenever it appears expedient to do so. Such records are not available for inspection as the report card is, but the teachers are ready at all times to discuss with parents any problems that may arise in character-training. I do not wish to infer that in character-training we entirely neglect the inspirational phases of instruction, such as poems, readings from emotional literature, selected passages of a spiritual nature from the Bible, or fail to confirm to the customary formalities of a Christian community.

METHODS OF INSTRUCTION

We are planning to improve the methods of instruction through the introduction of methods which will produce a keen feeling of the need of this instruction on the part of the child. This we plan to accomplish through a larger amount of individual instruction and by the use of improved forms of the materials of instruction along the lines that we have previously mentioned. We plan to motivate the work of the school room by a selection of the materials that will be most helpful to enable the child to express himself. The teacher will guide the child in the selection of his problems and materials but the pupil will solve his own problems for it is through this work that he educates himself. In addition to this individual instruction ample opportunity for group expression will be afforded in class discussion, dramatizations, and plays. It is through these activities that the individual education of the child is related to his own life and life in general.

PARENTAL COOPERATION

In order to produce a keener desire for the need of such instruction by the child the teachers, who have cooperated in making readjustments to the curriculum, are asking for cooperation by the parent, not for the purpose of assisting them directly in the instruction of the child but for the purpose of assisting the teacher in checking up the performance by the child of the requirements of the course of study. It is not expected that parents will know the details of instruction in the various courses offered. It is, however, believed that parents may do much to stimulate a keen desire for such instruction by making judicious inquiries relative to the meaning of the various achievements by the pupils as indicated on their report cards. With the proper motivation of the parents the skilful guidance of the teacher and the proper selection of the materials of instruction the child will be more effectively educated than ever before.

CONCLUSION

In closing this report I am glad to say that in general the work of the schools has never been done as well as this year. The teachers, when it has been possible for them to do so, have attended committee meetings for the revision of the curriculum along the lines previously mentioned. Their activities in this work will be productive of a greater service rendered to their schools and their communities. I wish to thank the teachers, members of the school board and interested citizens for their active and hearty cooperation in the work of conducting the schools.

Respectfully submitted,

CARL GOTTON

Superintendent of Schools.
